EDITORIAL STANDARS

General characteristics and submission

Fuori Luogo proposes an updated overview about sociology, especially in its territorial aspects. The journal is in any case open to a variety of theoretical and empirical perspectives, both qualitative and quantitative research, promoting dialogue between different sociological fields and encouraging debate with other social, humanistic and artistic sciences as well.

Scientific Strictness

The articles proposed for the publication in our Journal have to show scientific strictness and a solid theoretical and methodological approach, and to report significant research results, of national or international interest, also through comparisons.

Originality

The articles proposed for the publication in Fuori Luogo have to be unpublished, not yet submitted (neither entirely nor in their main parts) to other scientific journals, or published in other kinds of publications (such as encyclopedias, web sites, etc.)

Double-blind peer review

The journal adopts a double-blind peer reviewing. To guarantee faster and more efficient procedures authors are invited to submit even a version in anonymous mode: this means that all the references to the author/authors, in the notes, in the quotes and everywhere they appear, must be erased by the authors. Authors are even requested to submit a separate title page, containing title, all author names, affiliations, and the contact information of the corresponding author (editor) cover letter. A referee cover letter must be made in response to the reviews sent after this procedure. The journal provides a file to be able to correctly write the cover letter.

Manuscript Submission

Submissions relating to a single contribution (abstract, paper, updated and revised versions of the paper) must be made using the same form via SHARE UNINA and implies that the work:

- ✓ has not been published before; that it is not under consideration for publication anywhere else;
- ✓ that the publication has been approved by all co-authors, if any, as well as by the responsible authorities – tacitly or explicitly – at the institute where the work has been carried out.

Fuori Luogo will not be held legally responsible should there be any claims for compensation.

Please use a file providing the following informations.

- ✓ The name(s) of the author(s) in the order of publication.
- ✓ The affiliation(s) of the author(s), i.e. institution, (department), city, (state), country.
- ✓ A clear indication and an active e-mail address of the corresponding author.
- ✓ A concise and informative title of the paper.
- ✓ An abstract.
- ✓ The keywords and the subject(s) and the discipline(s) of the paper
- ✓ The 16-digit ORCID of the author(s).

For authors that are (temporarily) unaffiliated we will only capture their city and country of residence, not their e-mail address unless specifically requested.

Sizes

Submissions should usually within a range of 6,000-8,000 words, including endnotes and references, but excluding tables and figures. For each table and / or figure entered, 300 words less than the overall total will be calculated. In any case, articles that exceed 6 grafts between tables and figures will not be accepted.

Tables and figures must be restricted to essential information, and additional elements should be presented as supplementary material (see below §Tables, graphs and images). Fuori Luogo is also prepared to publish articles exceeding 8,000 words; in this case, submitting authors should be aware that our reviewers will routinely be asked to comment on whether a manuscript's contribution is of sufficient weight to justify its length.

Abstracts

Each article must be accompanied by an abstract in English of between 250 and 400 words in length. The abstract should not contain any undefined abbreviations or unspecified references.

Reviews

The minimum size is 1,000 words, the maximum size is 2,000 words including spaces. Reviews can be written in Italian or English or Spanish or French. For this type of contribution it is possible to agree on a different space with the editorial staff.

Interviews

The minimum size is 2,000 words, the maximum is 3,000 words. Interviews can be written in Italian or English or Spanish or French. For this type of contribution it is possible to agree on a different space with the editorial staff.

Keywords

Please provide 4 to 5 keywords in English which can be used for indexing purposes.

Text features

- Body of the text: Times New Roman, character size 12, justified, single-spaced
- Size 10 for all the words included in charts/tables
- Paper title: Times New Roman, character size 16, bold, centered
- Chapter title: Times New Roman, character size 12, bold, left-aligned, 2 white line spacing above and 1 below.
- Footnotes: Times New Roman, character size 9, single-spaced, enumerated progressively in ascending order from footnote n. 1.
- References: Times New Roman, character size 10, single-spaced.

Page margins: 2.00 cm (0.79 inches) for all four sides.

Alignments and indents: first row of each chapter has to have an indent of 0.5 cm from the left margin. Exceptions to this rule are made for abstracts, quotes and references.

Character spacing: normal spacing (including references, figures, tables, quotes, titles and headers). Don't add further spaces after a chapter or before a new title.

Page numbers: start the enumeration from the page that includes the title.

All vowels must bear the correct accent marks (à, è, é, ì, ò, ù) in Italian, both for capital letters and lowercase letters. Never use apostrophes to replace accents.

Decades and centuries should always be written in letters and never in numeric form, with uppercase initial (i.e. "The Sixteenth century" and not "16th century", "the Nineties" and not "1990s").

For any further advice or questions please contact the editorial board (redazione@fuoriluogo.info).

Tables, graphs and images

Please submit tables and graphs as editable text and not as images. Tables can be placed either next to the relevant text in the article, or on separate page(s) at the end. Number tables consecutively in accordance with their appearance in the text and place any table notes below the table body. Please avoid using vertical rules and shading in table cells.

Furthermore:
- ✓ A table/graph/image of about half folder equals 2000 keystrokes, including spaces.

- ✓ Those elements will be included inside the text.

- ✓ Think about before to insert tables, graphs and/or images.

- ✓ For tables and graphs is it necessary to provide apart the "excel file" in order to allow for possible further changes.

- ✓ Enumerate the elements progressively in the right order in which they appear in the text and write also a descriptive title for each element.

- ✓ Images have to be sent individually and have a minimal native resolution (with no interpolation) of 120 (accepted) or 300 (preferred) dpi, in JPG and PNG formats.

- ✓ It is necessary to specify the source for each image. If the image source is a URL, read the paragraph on website sources. For the rights to use the images, the owner of the image must always be mentioned.

- ✓ Footnotes to tables should be indicated by superscript lower-case letters (or asterisks for significance values and other statistical data) and included beneath the table body.

- ✓ Authors wishing to include figures, tables, or text passages that have already been published elsewhere are required to obtain permission from the copyright owner(s) for both the print and online format and to include evidence that such permission has been granted when submitting their papers. Any material received without such evidence will be assumed to originate from the authors.

- ✓ Be sparing in the use of tables, graphs and images and ensure that the data presented in them do not duplicate results described elsewhere in the article.

Footnotes

Footnotes can be used to give additional information, which may include the citation of a reference included in the reference list.

- ✓ They should not consist solely of a reference citation, and they should never include the bibliographic details of a reference.

- ✓ They should also not contain any figures or tables.

- ✓ Footnotes to the text are numbered consecutively; those to tables should be indicated by superscript lower-case letters (or asterisks for significance values and other statistical data).

- ✓ The footnotes of the title or of the authors of the article must be associated with an asterisk as a note symbol. No other symbols must be associated.

- ✓ They must never exceed 6-8 lines.

- ✓ Always use footnotes instead of endnotes.

Language

Papers for Fuori Luogo can be written in Italian, English, French or Spanish language. The Journal only considers for publication papers written in acceptable languages. Since the journal is internationally indexed, the editorial team will prioritize articles written in the English language. The editorial staff reserves the right to ask the authors to translate the essay into English before its online publication.
It will be the sole responsibility of the authors to ensure good linguistic quality. A check of the text by a native speaker is strongly recommended. For non-native speakers authors only, it will be necessary to test the essay through a proofreading service. Authors will have to provide our editorial staff (redazione@fuoriluogo.info) a proofreading certificate to assurance the language quality check process was made. Language editing does not guarantee that your manuscript will be accepted for publication.
Please note: Proofreading is solely your responsibility. Fuori Luogo is pleased to recommend language-editing service provided by external partners to authors who believe their manuscripts would benefit from professional editing. These services may be particularly useful for researchers for whom English, French or Spanish are not the primary language. They can help to improve the grammar, syntax and flow of your manuscripts prior to submission. For information you can write to the editorial staff (redazione@fuoriluogo.info).

Plagiarism

Fuori Luogo take issues of copyright violation, plagiarism or other breaches of best practice in publication very seriously. Our journal aims to protect the rights of our authors and it always investigates claims of plagiarism or misuse of articles published in the journal. Submitted articles will be checked using duplication-checking software. Where an article is found to have plagiarised other work or included third-party copyright material without permission or with insufficient acknowledgement, or where authorship of the article is contested, our journal reserves the right to take action including, but not limited to: retracting the article (removing it from the journal); publishing directly an erratum or corrigendum (correction); taking up the matter with the head of department or dean of the author's institution and/or relevant academic bodies or societies; banning the author from publication in the journal or all SHARE UNINA journals, or appropriate legal action.

Copyright

Upon receipt of accepted manuscripts at SHARE UNINA Journals authors will be invited to complete the online submission form related to copyrights and privacy.
Please note that by submitting an article for publication you confirm that you are the corresponding/submitting author and that Fuori Luogo may retain your email address for the purpose of communicating with you about the article. You agree to notify Fuori Luogo immediately if your details change. If your article is accepted for publication in Fuori Luogo will contact you using the email address you have used in the registration process. Please note that Fuori Luogo does not retain copies of rejected articles.

Creative Commons licences

Fuori Luogo articles are published open access under a CC BY licence (Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International licence). The CC BY licence is the most open licence available and considered the industry 'gold standard' for open access; it is also preferred by many funders. This licence allows readers to copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format, and to alter, transform, or build upon the material, including for commercial use, providing the original author is credited.

Acknowledgments

This section will only be added in the final and revised version of the essay. Acknowledgments of people, grants, funds, organizations… should be placed in a separate section on the title page. The names of funding organizations should be written in full.

Online First Publishing

Fuori Luogo is exceptionally helpful for OFP (Online First Publishing). OFP is an early version of the article edited, available online before of the issue final edition. It considerably reduces the time it would have previously taken for your scientific thoughts in the sociological community to be communicated, often by many months. Once a proof has been corrected and finalized, an article is ready for Online First publication and can be published online on our platform. This means that readers can access peer reviewed articles well before print publication. These articles are searchable on the journal homepage and they can be cited using their unique DOI (Digital Object Identifier). The formatting depends on the reference style of the journal, but in principle you can simply use the DOI instead of volume and page numbers. To get more information about this procedure please contact the Editor-in-Chief (caporedattore@fuoriluogo.info).

Quotes

Textual quotes in the text have to be included between quotation marks (« ») and have to be followed by a bracket including author's surname, year of the quote and page (Scott, 2017, p. 30). In case the quoted text includes quotation marks, apexes have to be used (''). The quoted text has to be reported entirely. If some parts are omitted, they have to be indicated by […]. If the textual quote exceeds 5 rows the text has to be detached from the previous paragraph and from the next one. In this specific case the character size has to be one point smaller. If a text is quoted more than once in the article, from the second time it has to be reported as Surname, year, op. cit. (Scott, 2016, op. cit.). Use (ibidem) for an immediate repetition of the work and (ibidem, p.) for an immediate repetition of the work but with a different page.

High quoting marks (" ") have to be used when the aim is to emphasize words or concepts. Foreign terms of not common use, Latinisms and Grecisms, have to be reported in italics, while the ones of common use (i.e. "Gesellschaft") have to stay roman. No bold and underlined words are allowed. We also ask authors to avoid, as much as possible, the capital letters as a sign of respect. Leave the capital letters only for Country, Republic, State and similar.

For long quotations, excerpts of speech and interviews the use of quotation marks is mandatory. They must be kept separated from the previous and the following paragraph and printed in red. At the end of each quotation it is necessary to report, between brackets, the enumeration of the quotation and, when available, the date of publication.

References

Your reference list should appear at the end of your paper. It provides the information necessary for a reader to locate and retrieve any source you cite in the body of the paper. Each source you cite in the paper must appear in your reference list; likewise, each entry in the reference list must be cited in your text. Your references should begin on a new page separate from the text of the essay; label this page "References" in bold, centered at the top of the page (do NOT underline or use quotation marks for the title). All text should be double-spaced just like the rest of your essay. For more information about formatting the references please check the international standard APA Publication Manual 7th edition: http://www.apastyle.org/ (October 2019).

In general, the APA citation system uses the Author, Date citation style. Most citations begin with the last names of the authors or the authoring organization, followed by the year of publication. Past tense reporting verbs are generally favored by APA style. Direct quotes and paraphrases should also include the page number to help the reader locate the information. For phrases quoted from websites or other sources without page numbers, provide readers with another way to locate the passage, such as paragraph numbers, heading names, or other identifiers.

- ✓ If a journal article has a DOI, include the DOI in the reference.
- ✓ Always include the issue number for a journal article.
- ✓ If the journal article does not have a DOI and is from an academic research database, end the reference after the page range. The reference in this case is the same as for a print journal article.
- ✓ Do not include database information in the reference unless the journal article comes from a database that publishes works of limited circulation or original, proprietary content.
- ✓ If the journal article does not have a DOI but does have a URL that will resolve for readers (e.g., it is from an online journal that is not part of a database), include the URL of the article at the end of the reference.

Acronyms

Introduce every acronym before using it in the text. The first time you use the term, put the acronym in parentheses after the full term. Thereafter, you can stick to using the acronym.

- The International Olympic Committee (IOC) is headquartered in Switzerland. The IOC President is elected by secret ballot.

Acronyms have to be in roman, capital letters with no quoting marks and no dots between letters in bibliography (i.e. ISFOL and not I.S.F.O.L.).
